

Exactly Where To Start – The Success Principles Of An Entrepreneurial Mind

Phil is the son of a builder from a small village outside London and has built his business and personal brand from the ground up. Starting his first business at just 14 years of age and having a colorful career with a through line of success, he knows exactly what it takes to create a winning mindset and outperform standard expectations.

Standing in the way of success for most people are the self-sabotaging conversations they have with themselves that create their limiting beliefs and result in success being something that only “other people” experience.

The great Henry Ford once said “Whether you think you can, or think you can’t – you’re right” and it is this quote that has provided a mantra to Phil’s life, resulting in him personally supporting thousands of others to grow their own successes.

As an attendee of this powerful presentation, you will benefit from witnessing Phil deliver live coaching that will reframe your thoughts, destroy your limiting beliefs and help you realize a new reality in which ‘possible’ becomes true to you and you are inspired to reach a new height for yourself and your business.

Speech Description

Expect to hear precise examples that show you that 'more' is possible, from every meeting, event, phone call and conversation. Enjoy the long-term results of feeling empowered, inspired and enabled, with more of the tools you need to achieve more of what is possible.